Good Morning,

My name is Drew Greve and I am a doctoral candidate at The George Washington University. I am writing a dissertation examining the relationship between students' opportunities for physical activity and academic performance. There was a study published in your journal in 2009 by Lisa Beaulieu, Stephen A. Butterfield, and Phillip Pratt entitled Physical Activity Opportunity in United States Public Elementary Schools. This article includes a table that is very relevant to my research. Lisa Beaulieu granted permission for me to use the table (her reply is included below), but wanted to make sure that it was approved by your organization. I was wondering if you would possibly allow me to reprint a portion of table 1 (means and standard deviations for minutes per week of scheduled recess and physical education combined at public elementary schools) for my dissertation.

I am specifically examining the relationship between the opportunities for daily physical activity among third grade students in the Commonwealth of Virginia, and their performance on the reading portion of our state assessment, the Standards of Learning Exam. I intend to give both Lisa Beaulieu and your journal credit in my dissertation.

I really appreciate your consideration in letting me reprint a portion of this table. It provides valuable information for my research.

Sincerely,
Drew Greve
